The Adeline Corridor Project

What have we done?

We asked, you spoke, we listened.

What did we discover?

We organized your input into 9 categories. Through the process of prioritizing, you told us which were most important to you.

They include:

Housing - Environmentally sound and sustainable affordable housing with pathways to home ownership.

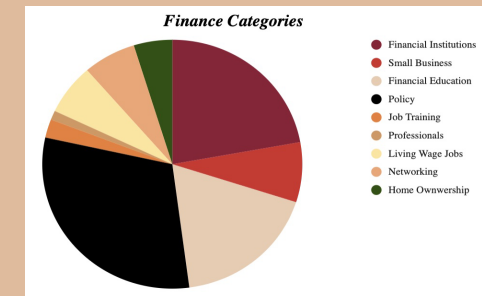

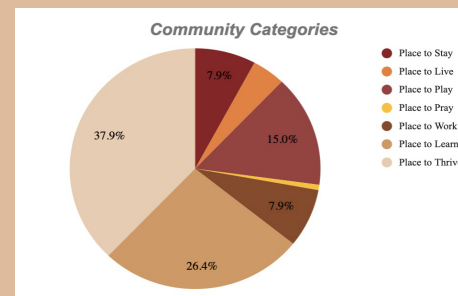

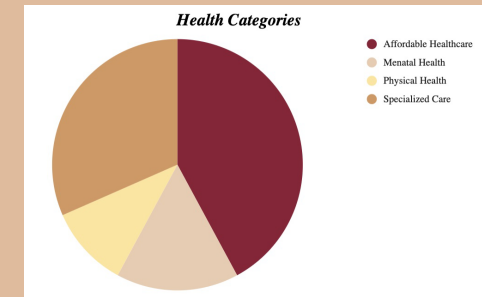

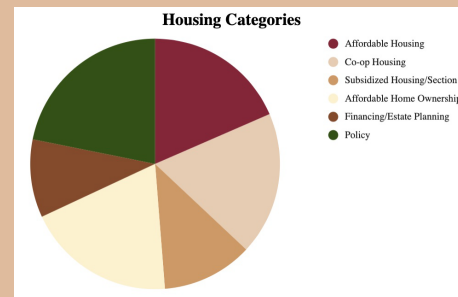

Health - Reconciling health disparities through the lens of the social determinates of health to address bias in healthcare services.

Community - Space for the South and West Berkeley Black community to stay, live, play, pray, work, learn, and thrive in their shared culture.

Finance - Equitable finance opportunities for Black homeowners, businesses, individuals and developers.

We discovered the communities top 4 priorities:

Advancing social equity and justice, with a focus on Black Individuals and Families.

The E4BB initiative is partially funded by the San Francisco Foundation.
